Environmentalism and Global Warming are Christian Concerns

This week as I hear the reports coming out of the UN Climate Summit in Copenhagen, I am reminded of how precious this earth is that God has created. As Christians we are called to be stewards of God's earth. Limiting greenhouse gases, cleaning up the oceans, and recycling are part of what it means to be Christian.

Sometimes Episcopalians are surprised to hear the church speak about climate change and environmental concerns, believing them to be trendy issues that have no place in the pew or pulpit. But it might be even more surprising to learn just how very Episcopalian and Biblical these concerns are.

In one of his letters from the Episcopal General Convention this summer, Bishop Bud Cederholm wrote, "global warming (and its effects) is the most critical moral, ethical and justice issue the church faces." Lots of resolutions about caring for the environment were passed by bishops, priests, and laity during General Convention because of our Christian belief that "the earth is the Lord's and everything in it" (Psalm 24:1, NRSV).

One might also look at our own Book of Common Prayer for additional insight into concern for the creation and the environment. In the Prayers of the People, form I (p. 384) we pray "for the good earth which God has given us, and for the wisdom and will to conserve it." In form IV (p. 388) "Give us all a reverence for the earth as your own creation, that we may use its resources rightly in the service of others and to your honor and glory." In form VI (p. 392), we pray "for the just and proper use of your creation." In the Prayers of the People, Rite I, (p. 329) we pray "that, rejoicing in thy whole creation, [all people] may... be faithful stewards of thy bounty." In the Eucharistic Prayer D (p. 373) it says, "giving the whole world into our care, so that, in obedience to you, our Creator, we might rule and serve all your creatures." There is also the prayer "For the Conservation of Natural Resources" (p. 827) and the prayer "For the stewardship of Creation" (p. 208).

These issues are not new. Theologians have been writing about the importance of caring for the earth and all creatures since the beginning. For instance, St. Isaac the Syrian (685-758) wrote, "What is a charitable heart? It is a heart burning with a loving charity for the whole of creation, for men, for the birds, for the beasts ... for all creatures. He who has such a heart cannot see or call to mind a creature without his eyes being filled with tears by reason of the immense compassion which seizes his heart; a heart which is so softened and can no longer bear to hear of any suffering, even the smallest pain, being inflicted upon any creature. He will pray even for the lizards and reptiles, moved by the infinite pity which reigns in the hearts of those who are becoming united with God."

Martin Luther (1483-1546) once wrote, "Now I believe in God's Son and remember that He became man, all creatures will appear a hundred times more beautiful to me than before. Then I will properly appreciate the sun, the moon, the stars, trees, apples, as I reflect that he is Lord over all things."

The Bible itself is filled with references to the fact that the earth does not belong to us; to treat it poorly is an affront to God. Jesus came not just to redeem humanity, but all of creation: earth, plants, and animals. Some examples include Jeremiah 2:7 – "I brought you into a fertile land to eat its fruit and rich produce. But you came and defiled my land and made my inheritance detestable." Colossians 1:15-16 – "Jesus is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation; for in him all things in heaven and on earth were created, things visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or powers— all things have been created through him and for him." Revelation 11:18 – "The nations were angry; and your wrath has come. The time has come for judging the dead, and for rewarding your servants the prophets and your saints and those who reverence your name, both small and great — and for destroying those who destroy the earth." (all NIV)

Fortunately St. Paul's has already taken some steps to raise awareness of issues related to greenhouse gases. Last year we rang our church bell 35 times to represent the number 350. 350 parts per million is what many scientists and climate experts are now saying is the safe upper limit for CO₂ in our atmosphere. The earth is currently at 390. In addition, this fall we offered parishioners the opportunity to write postcards to our political leaders asking them, as people of faith, to do more to address this issue. Churches, mosques, and synagogues around the world are joining together with the 350 movement to halt this progression of CO₂. More information can be found at www.350.org/people/faith.

Love of the earth, care for the environment, preventing pollution, lowering greenhouse gases, using the earth's resources fairly with all humanity and other creatures, are not new ideas. They are as old as Christianity – even older! We are not jumping on a politically correct bandwagon, we are continuing what was begun by God when humanity was given the creation to “work it and take care of it.” (Gen. 2:15, NIV). May one of our New Year's resolutions be to educate ourselves more about the threats to God's good creation and takes steps to care for it.

In Christ,
Stephanie +

A Letter From Bishop Thomas Shaw on Christian Marriage

Advent I, November 29, 2009

Christian marriage is a sacramental rite that has evolved in the church, along with confirmation, ordination, penance, and the anointing of the sick, and while it is not necessary for all, it must be open to all as a means of grace and sustenance to our Christian hope.

I believe this because the truth of it is in our midst, revealed again and again by the many marriages—of women and men, and of persons of the same gender—that are characterized, just as our church expects, by fidelity, monogamy, mutual affection and respect, and the holy love which enables spouses to see in one another the image of God.

In May of 2004 the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court opened civil marriage in our state to same-gender couples. That ruling set up a contradiction between what civil law would allow and what our church's canons and formulary state, which is that marriage is between a man and a woman. And so, for more than five years now, while faithfully waiting for the General Convention of the Episcopal Church to act in response, we in the Diocese of Massachusetts have been living at some cost with an imperfect accommodation: Our clergy have not been allowed to solemnize same-gender marriages, but they have been permitted to bless them after the fact.

In July of this year, the 76th General Convention adopted resolution C056, "Liturgies for Blessings." It allows that "bishops, particularly those in dioceses within civil jurisdictions where same-gender marriage, civil unions or domestic partnerships are legal, may provide generous pastoral response to meet the needs of members of this church."

Your bishops understand this to mean for us here in the Diocese of Massachusetts that the clergy of this diocese may, at their discretion, solemnize marriages for all eligible couples, beginning Advent I. Solemnization, in accordance with Massachusetts law, includes hearing the declaration of consent, pronouncing the marriage and signing the marriage certificate. This provision for generous pastoral response is an allowance and not a requirement; any member of the clergy may decline to solemnize any marriage.

While gender-specific language remains unchanged in the canons and The Book of Common Prayer, our provision of generous pastoral response means that same-gender couples can be married in our diocese. We request that our clergy follow as they ordinarily would the other canonical requirements for marriage and remarriage. And, because The Celebration and Blessing of a Marriage in The Book of Common Prayer may not be used for marriages of same-gender couples, we ask that our priests seek out liturgical resources being developed and collected around the church. We also commend to you the October 2008 resource created by our New England dioceses, "Pastoral Resources for Province I Episcopal Clergy Ministering to Same-Gender Couples," available at www.province1.org.

We have not arrived at this place in our common life easily or quickly. We have not done it alone. This decision comes after a long process of listening, prayer and discernment leading up to and continuing after General Convention's action this past summer. Our Diocesan Convention recently adopted a resolution of its own expressing its collective hope for the very determination that your bishops have made. Even so, we know that not all are of one mind and that some in good faith will disagree with this decision. Our Anglican tradition makes space for this disagreement and calls us to respect and engage one another in our differences. It is through that tension that we find God's ultimate will.

We also know that by calling us to minister in the context of this particular place and time God is again blessing our diocese with a great challenge by which we might enter more fully into that ethic of love which Jesus speaks to us through the New Testament. It is an immeasurable love given for all. We are being asked to live it, all of us, children of God, each with equal claim upon the love, acceptance and pastoral care of this church, so that the newness and fullness of life promised through word and sacrament might be for all people and for the completion of God's purpose for the world.

THANK YOU CRAFTY LADIES

Crafty Ladies Oversight

In my thank you last month to the crafty ladies, I neglected to mention the wonderful donations to the booth by Debbie Ramirez and Tracy Wakeman. Though these ladies were unable to join us this past year on Monday nights, they were kind enough to work at home to produce items for our Craft Table. If anyone else would like to help in this manner, please let us know. We're always looking for "willing hands." Just call Marlene Smith: 603-382-8151.

Marlene Smith, Craft Table Chairman

21st Annual Candlelight Potluck Dinner

On December 6th the Parish Hall was glowing with candlelight, and the tables were decked with linens, silverware, candles and holly centerpieces. All this came about through the efforts of Diane & Ray Shaw, Melinda, Tim, Amanda, & Sabrina Coppa, and Stacey, Devon & Bryanna Cameron. Then all our wonderful parishioners arrived at 5 pm bringing with them steaming dishes of delicious foods for our wonderful potluck dinner. Stephanie led us in prayer and then everyone enjoyed the delicacies everyone had brought. There was something to satisfy everyone's palate. After dinner, Santa arrived to listen to the desires of all the children and they were presented with a candy cane and reindeer dust. The evening was enhanced as Choirmaster Ed Stauff led the children and adults in Christmas carols and a mighty force of parishioners cleaned up the entire Parish Hall, while John Brunett and the acolytes did all the dishes down in the kitchen. Many thanks to all who pitched in to help, and especially to Rusty Porter and Jack Smith in setting up tables and chairs.

Stacey Cameron and Marlene Smith, Co-Chairmen

Thank You!

To all those who helped make the Christmas Pageant possible, children and adults. Great job!

Thanks to the Altar Guild and the beautiful Christmas altar.

Finance Committee News

Finance Committee News

The revenue and expense for November and the first eleven months appear below.

During November we received $17,097 in revenue and disbursed $15,090 in expenses. For the first eleven months we have disbursed $60,288 more than we have taken in. We did not transfer any funds from our Fidelity accounts during November and do not anticipate transferring anymore in 2009.

Looking ahead to the budget for 2010, we will still be working with a deficit budget – a deficit of about ($57,000). Our expenses will be higher than we experienced in 2009. But income will also be higher and we expect the increase in income to be greater than the increase in expense...a good trend to latch onto. Watch for budget details with annual meeting materials.

If you have any questions, comments or suggestions for the Finance Committee please contact Jean Kookan

Episcopal Church Women

The next ECW meeting is Monday, January 4th, in the lower level of the Parish Hall (Room 3). Paula Fines heads a Panel Discussion entitled: "When Cancer Strikes". She and other St. Paul's women who have battled cancer will focus on available support and services. Meal begins at 6:30 p.m. Please bring appetizers, salads, side dishes or desserts. Hostesses: Jean Kookan and Marlene Smith. All women in the parish are welcome at ECW meetings.

Save the date:

February 1st: Friendship Night begins with a meal at 6:30 p.m. Please bring a friend and a gift valued at no more than $15.00 for a Yankee Swap. The gift need not be purchased. Everyone has a gift that isn't quite right for them—bath products, a hat, those funky socks Aunt Mary made, a necklace that doesn't match anything. The aim of the Yankee Swap is fun so see what you can come up with. Participants can compliment the meal with salads, side dishes and desserts.

Hostesses: Kathy Brown, Lillian Fundeklian and Corrine Hall

Biographies for The 2010 Annual Election

Treasurer

Peter Kalafarski: Leslie and I have attended St. Paul's for twenty-nine years and have raised two children here. I have been in the choir and have helped out at the Christmas Fair. Three years ago I was received into the Episcopal Church. I recently retired as science supervisor for the Haverhill Public Schools. I would be honored to continue to serve as Treasurer.

Vestry

Gabby Brown: I grew up in Brookline and attended the Church of the Redeemer in Chestnut Hill, where I was active in the youth group as a choir member and an acolyte.

That early involvement has continued over the years, from St. Mark's Cathedral in Salt Lake City to Trinity Church Boston. That fellowship and community of faith have been an important thread running through my life. We have been attending St Paul's now for a couple of years, and have found a wonderful spiritual home which I hope will provide our son Josh with the same warm fellowship and community of faith I have had. To that end I look forward to helping through serving on the Vestry.

Vestry

Donna Gorzela: My name is Donna Gorzela. My husband, Rich, and I have been attending St. Paul's for over 15 years. Over those years, I have had many different roles in the church, most significant of those, being a Sunday School teacher. I have watched my two children, now 13 and 11, grow up in this church and have been involved in many of their activities. Outside of St. Paul's, I'm an active leader of the New England Ataxia Support Group. Because I am disabled, I am also able to spend a lot of time volunteering at my kids' school.

Convention Delegate

Lenore Schmidt: I have been a member of St. Paul's for two years. I am the youth group leader, the assistant Sunday School Director and a worship leader. Before joining St. Paul's, I was a member of St. Andrew's in Hawaii and then a member of Christ Church in Needham where I held a variety of positions – youth leader, acolyte director, vergers and vestry. I am enjoying setting down roots at St. Paul's – it's a great family.

Convention Delegate

Dee Carlson: Loren and I have been part of St Paul's family since moving here from New Jersey with our two youngest children 22 years ago; my early years included the nursery and Sunday School; more recently, I've been a member of the Altar Guild and last year became a worship leader; I was received into the Episcopal Church 7 years ago; I work as a Speech Therapist with Home Health VNA, traveling the highways and byways of the Merrimac Valley. Prayer and meditation have been an important part of my spiritual journey for many years, and I look forward to representing St Paul's as a convention delegate.

Deanery

Dave Edwards: I have been a long time member of St. Paul's and I've been honored to have held every position from Vestry Clerk to Vestry to Junior Warden and Senior Warden. Not a cradle Episcopalian, I was led to the Anglican church by Anne when we lived in Colorado. I've also served on the Diocesan Council and, in fact, worked on the task of reorganizing the Diocese from Regions to the current Deanery structure. As your Deanery Representative, it will be interesting to me to see how this structure has evolved and how it can help St. Paul's grow and prosper.

Deanery

Corky Jensen: Bruce and I have been members of St. Paul's for about 12 years. I have been a convention delegate and am currently president of ECW, a worship leader, a member of the altar guild, book club, on the planning committee for the online auction, and parish dog sitter. I am a writer with four published novels and am currently a reporter for Episcopal news on Examiner.com. I have a son, Michael, and a daughter, Megan, who is about to make me a grandmother.

Deanery

Mary Ellen Grelle: I have been a member at St. Paul's for 11 years. I've taught Church school, sung in the choir, been an usher and a lector. I love being at St. Paul's. This is my family.

Junior Warden

Bob Zimmerman: In November, I had the privilege of representing St. Paul's at the Diocesan Convention, an experience which broadened and strengthened my faith. This included learning more about stewardship of physical property, which is the primary focus of the Junior Warden's responsibility. I love St. Paul's and want to do what I can to ensure its continued presence, serving God and the community.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH SCHOOL

To teach St. Paul's children and their families . . . about God's love for us In Christ . . . through
. . . Scripture, Worship, and Community

What another great job with the Christmas Pageant. The children came through with fantastic job presenting the Pageant, reminding us of Gods love and how He guides us in our lives. Thank you everyone for all your hard work!

In January our new beginning is reinforced with the Epiphany Pageant on January 3rd. Along with the Parish Family Service. We hope you can all join us in this celebration, and welcome our new year with peace and generosity.

Looking ahead:

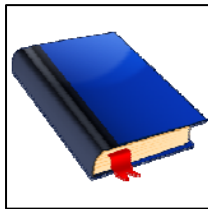

January 8th: 6:00 – 9:00, Friday, 1st of 3 Movie Nights.

Need a night out, bring your kids to St. Paul's where you know they will be safe. There will be a movie for the young and one for the older youth. Popcorn and drinks to be served.

Dates to be announced for February & March

May Gods Blessings be with you,
Susan Johansson
Lenore Schmidt

PLEASE BE SURE TO CHECK OUT THE BULLETIN BOARD LEAVING THE PARISH HALL FOR EVENTS AND SIGN-UP SHEET.

St. Paul's Women's Book Group

All women of the parish are welcome to our book group meetings! Our meetings are always held on the third Thursday of the month (except December) from September through May. We do not meet in December. We meet at 7:00 p.m. in the French Memorial for discussion and refreshments are served. All women of the parish are welcome. Food, fun, and conversation!

Please join us this month on Thursday, January 21, and we will be discussing A Canticle for Leibowitz by Walter M. Miller, Jr. This is a science-fiction novel.

The remaining months of the schedule for 2010 are as follows:

- February 18 - Pope Joan by Donna Woolfolk Cross - novel
- March 18 - In the Beauty of the Lilies by John Updike - novel
- April 15 - Driftless by David Rhodes - novel
- May 20 - The Big House by George Howe Colt - non-fiction
